

CANNIBALISM SPREADING IN RUSSIA; MOTHERS KILL, COOK, EAT CHILDREN

By NEA Service
CLEVELAND, July 19.—In extremities of starvation, Russia has sunk to cannibalism, according to a letter received in this city, by a friend of L. A. Trofimov, a Russian resident here. The friend, fearing the Reds, refuses to allow his name to be made public.

Stories so horrible as to challenge belief are in the letter—stories of mothers killing, cooking and eating their children; of dead bodies rotting in the streets; of a hopeless, despairing nation.

The letter, smuggled past the strict mail censorship in possession of a mutual friend leaving Russia, brands life in the soviet nation as "a terrible nightmare, daily growing worse."

"Yes, the horrible pictures the letter paints are true," says Trofimov, who fled from Russia under forged passports in 1918. He had served in the Russian navy under the czar, Kerensky, and, for a short time, under Lenin, and was a submarine commander in active service during the war.

"I myself saw the beginnings which inevitably led to this. But there will be a reaction, probably, resulting in the return of monarchy."

"Lenin, the one sincere man of the Bolsheviks, is conservative in his radicalism. If he dies, as the papers say, it is likely more radical will rise against them. Then, probably a monarchy, for the people of Russia do not know of a good republic such as America. All they know is sovietism and monarchy, and between the two they will choose monarchy."

Conditions pictured
"What else will they do when there is no food, no hope of food and scarcely a house in Russia fit to live in? The wooden buildings are torn down for firewood, the brick buildings are tumbling down. Unrepaired roofs admit the water, which freezes between the bricks of the walls and causes them to become dislodged. People live like animals in the basements."

All this because the houses have no owners and who cares if they tumble?
"Cannibalism? Yes, I believe it, for when I left Russia everyone was consuming and no one producing or planting. This would bring the terrible desperation of hunger which will lead to cannibalism."

MANY GOVERNORS AGREE TO SUPPORT FEDERAL POLICY OF OPENING COAL MINES

Where Strikers Were Routed By Officers

THIS picture shows a bird's-eye view of the battleground at Cliftonville, W. Va., where seven were killed and many injured in a fight between mine strike sympathizers and deputy sheriffs. The deputies were called to guard the property of the Richland Coal Co., which had been operating with strike breakers, after reports that a force of strike sympathizers was marching on the plant.

Sweeping over the hills shown in the background of the pictures, the men attacked the mine, firing hundreds of shots at the deputies who encircled it. The mine tipples were soaked with coal-oil and fired. The picture shows it still in flames. Sheriff H. H. Duval was among those killed in the attack.

FOLLOWING the mine battle at Cliftonville, W. Va., in which seven men were killed and many injured, 48 men were rounded up and arrested by deputy sheriffs. The Brooke county jail was filled and five auto loads of "overflow" prisoners were taken for safekeeping to the Ohio county jail at Wheeling. This shows one of the five cars of prisoners en route to Wheeling.

Chile-Peru Ready For Arbitration

WASHINGTON, July 19.—(By the Associated Press)—With only the stroke of a pen needed to conclude their Tacna-Arica arbitration agreement, the plenipotentiaries of Chile and Peru picked their luggage today and prepared to quit Washington, after nine weary weeks of negotiation.

They read the newspaper stories of proceedings in Mrs. Phillips' case together. Mrs. Phillips smiles most of the time and laughs often. Everybody likes Mrs. Phillips and she said she thought she would be happy in jail because everybody was so jolly and happy there.

Sanction C.&O. Clerks' Strike

CINCINNATI, O., July 19.—A strike of the clerks and station employees of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad has been sanctioned, E. H. Fitzgerald, grand president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, announced at national headquarters here today.

"I have sanctioned a strike of the clerks, freight handlers, station and express employees on the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, called for 10 o'clock Thursday," said Mr. Fitzgerald.

Mr. Fitzgerald added that he had been officially informed by H. J. Osborn, general chairman of the brotherhood on the C. & O., that his committee offered to compromise their demands, at a conference with President W. J. Harahan, of the railroad, and his committee at Richmond late yesterday, but that the compromise was rejected. There are 3,600 members of the brotherhood on the C. & O. and the C. & O. of Indiana, he stated.

C. & O. STRIKE SET FOR TOMORROW

RICHMOND, VA., July 19.—Neither railroad nor union officials today expected any development to avert the strike of 3,600 clerks on the Chesapeake and Ohio railway, scheduled to begin at 10 a. m. tomorrow as announced last night by J. H. Osborn, general chairman of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks.

Declaring that the strike vote was 86 per cent in favor of the walk-out, officials of the clerks' union said the strike will be 100 per cent. Chesapeake and Ohio officials announced that "no time will be lost in employing new men to fill the places of the striking clerks."

Appeal To All Workers

WASHINGTON, July 19.—An appeal was issued today by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor—"To all workers everywhere to support the railroad workers in their efforts to secure a just settlement of the railroad shops trades dispute."

The appeal, which was issued by unanimous vote of the executive council, and over the signature of all members of the council, including Samuel Gompers, federation president, has been forwarded to every labor organization in the United States, to every labor publication and to all organizers of the federation, it was announced at federation headquarters.

HEALY OPPOSES SEPARATE AGREEMENT

CHICAGO, July 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Request for permission to sign a separate agreement between the firemen and others and the Northern Pacific brought a pointed telegram from Timothy Healy, president of the others' union.

"I will not stand for you to make an individual agreement," wired President Healy. "Take the men out and keep them out. This strike must be won nationally."

Mr. Healy said today that the strike of his men was practically 100 per cent effective.

C. & O. STRIKERS ARE ENJOINED

CINCINNATI, O., July 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Striking shopmen and affiliated craftsmen on the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad in the eastern district of Kentucky were enjoined today by United States District Judge Cochran from interfering, threatening or in any manner causing an interruption of business of the road.

The restraining order was granted for ten days only, when it will cease to be effective unless modified or further extended by the court. The defendants are ordered to appear for a hearing on the application at Maysville, Ky., July 25.

Employees now on strike at Silvergrove, Russell, Ashland, the Big Sandy district, Paintsville, Shelbyville and Lexington, Ky., are affected by the injunction. It was stated that the restraining order was requested on account of disturbances in the eastern Kentucky district.

STRIKERS TO BE CONSIDERED "NEW EMPLOYEES"

CINCINNATI, O., July 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Any former employees of the New York Central lines who have left the service, will be considered new employees with seniority date following the men then in service, whether old or new employees, according to an order received here today, issued by A. H. Smith, president of the New York Central lines.

The order states that "when certain employees left the services of the New York Central lines, July 1, and since that date question of seniority of standing of employees who remained in service and new men who entered service was considered. Instructions were issued to the effect that seniority of employees who remained in service would date ahead of former employees returning or new employees taken into service."

"My attention has been called to conflicting statements made in the public press and otherwise. To the end that there may be no misunderstanding on this question, I wish to state that any former employees returning to service will be considered new employees with seniority date following the men then in service, whether old or new employees."

New Hearings By Board

CHICAGO, July 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Railway strike peace parleys assumed new and more important proportions today, with possibility of the walk-out of 400,000 maintenance of way men virtually removed by the action of the railroad labor board in indicating that it would grant new hearings on the wage question.

It was pointed out that the board's action in promising re-hearings commits the board to nothing it had not already indicated might reasonably be expected under the transportation act and that assurance of re-hearings was not to be interpreted as weakening the stand the board has taken from the outset.

To Emphasize Living Wage Principle Senator Cummins' announcement that he would hold hearings of the transportation act to ascertain how the law may be amended so that the living wage principle would be made clear, was received as decidedly favorable to peace, both by rail heads and strike leaders. Regarding this as one of the most important conclusions yet offered the unions, strike leaders pointed out that a clear definition of what constitutes a living wage seemed in prospect. This has

HITCHCOCK, HOWELL, WINNERS IN NEBRASKA

OMAHA, NEB., July 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock and R. B. Howell, Republican national committeeman, were nominated at yesterday's statewide primary as Democratic and Republican candidates, respectively, for United States senator.

Senator Hitchcock's victory was sweeping. Tabulation of votes from 675 of the 1913 precincts in the state, showed Senator Hitchcock 29,468 against 6,757 for J. O. Shrover, his nearest opponent.

Howell's lead over Congressman Albert W. Jeffers, of Omaha, and Attorney General Clarence A. Davis, while safe, was by no means as commanding. He showed a margin of more than 5,000 votes in tabulations of returns from 718 precincts.

The race between Dan B. Butler, Omaha, and Charles W. Bryan, brother of William Jennings Bryan, for the Democratic nomination for governor, showed Butler leading with slightly more than one-third of the state heard from. Political observers were inclined to the belief that Bryan had a slight edge on the prospects of the returns to come.

Bryan was cutting the lead of his opponent as returns came in this afternoon. Butler had 17,000 and Bryan 16,437 by unofficial count.

In the Republican race for the nomination for governor, only a few hundred votes separated Charles H. Randall, of Randolph, and Adam McMullen, of Bentley.

Ohio Executive Says State Ready To Protect Mines

COLUMBUS, O., July 19.—Governor Davis today dispatched a telegram to President Harding setting forth Ohio's position on the president's mine operation invitation as follows:

"Having had troops under arms for some time, Ohio stands fully prepared to meet without delay. The state has ample powers and resources to compel obedience to law, to safeguard the rights of citizens and to suppress violence. The full authority of the state of Ohio has been and is ready to be marshalled into action as need for such steps may arise, including the employment of all military and civil measures that are requisite effectively to maintain order."

No Possibility Of Resuming Operations

WEST FRANKFORT, ILLINOIS, July 19.—(By The Associated Press)—Coal operators in Franklin county, the largest coal producing county in Illinois, today stated there was "absolutely no possibility" of resuming coal production under President Harding's plan. Franklin county is said to be the largest coal producing area of its size in the United States.

Order All Mines To Start At Once

CONNESSLVILLE, PA., July 19.—(By the Associated Press)—The W. J. Roney Coal Company, one of the largest independents in the ConneSSLville region, today posted notices at its 12 mines in this district that "the president of the United States has ordered all mines to start at once and will furnish complete protection. The government expects you to return to work immediately or your places will be filled by others."

North Carolina Governor Opposes Plan

RALEIGH, N. C., July 19.—Governor Morrison, of North Carolina, responding to the appeal of President Harding for cooperation of the states in protecting reopened coal mines, today telegraphed the president that "your position is practically to use the power of the government against the strikers and in the enforcement of police regulations and the upholding of the law, the strikers will naturally have little confidence in the impartiality or fairness of soldiers or other agencies of force directed by a government which has taken a decided stand against them, however good the reason for such a stand may be."

PITTSBURG COAL MINES TO OPEN

PITTSBURG, PA., July 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Coal mines in the Pittsburgh district, shut down since the strike was called April 1, last, will resume operations "to the greatest possible extent" at the scale of "wages in effect in November, 1917." This announcement was made after a meeting of the Pittsburgh Coal Producers' Association here today.

The practice of collecting initiation fees, dues and assessments, known as the "check-off" will no longer be continued, said a statement made public immediately after the meeting.

The wages proposed will be on a basis of $5 a day of eight hours for basic day labor; 70c a ton for machine coal, and 87.64 cents a ton for pick mined coal. These prices compare with $7.50 a day for labor, 94 cents for machine coal, and $1.164 cents a ton for pick mining in the scale which expired April 1, last when the strike was called.

Accept Harding's Proposal To Open The Mines

ALTOONA, PA., July 19.—Acceptance of President Harding's proposal to reopen the bituminous coal mines was announced by T. H. Watkins, president of the Pennsylvania Coal & Coke Corporation, in notices posted today at all the company's operations in the central Pennsylvania fields.

"We believe that a request by the president is a command," said the notice, "and that the future welfare of every citizen depends upon the willingness of every group of individuals to bow to the will of the majority as voiced by President Harding."

WASHINGTON, July 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Replies from governors of coal producing states who were called on yesterday by President Harding to co-operate with the federal government in protecting mines at which operations are resumed began today to pour into the White House. Most of the governors responding said that they would support the federal policy if any emergency should arise and outlined their plan for doing so.

Text Of Replies

Texts of replies received from governors follow:

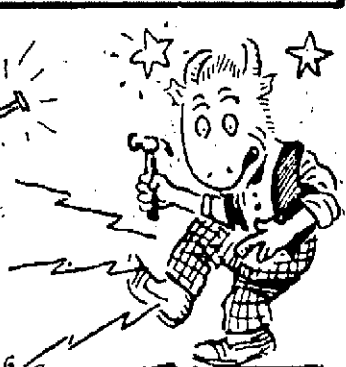

GOVERNOR MORGAN, WEST VIRGINIA.—All resources of West Virginia have been available for protection of men who wished to work. "All resources of West Virginia have been and are available to afford protection to those who desire to engage in lawful employment, to maintain order and preserve peace. There has been a splendid co-operation on the part of county and local authorities in the enforcement of law and order, resulting since the coal strike declaration, in a minimum of organized violence," the governor's telegram said.

GOVERNOR MORROW, KENTUCKY.—"Replying to your telegram, I will issue tonight (Tuesday) in the form of a proclamation, a request to all mine operators to open their mines and to all miners to return to their employment or to seek employment when the mines are open, and am giving full assurance to all persons concerned that every power of the state will be used whenever and wherever necessary to maintain law and order and to protect every citizen in the unobstructed exercise of their constitutional

HAS A FREAK PEACH TREE

Mrs. O. E. Burke of Fullerton has a peach tree in her yard which she claims is a real freak. The tree has the leaf of a scrub and is not over four feet tall. It is growing in the center of a greenberry patch. One branch of the small tree is bearing peaches that in shape resemble pawpaw. Other branches are bearing normal fruit. Tuesday she picked one of the freak peaches and found it to be a freestone of very fine flavor, with a seed that is about two inches long.

Mrs. Burke thought of cutting the tree down early this season, but when the blossoms were those of a high grade peach, she let it remain just to see what kind of fruit it would produce.

Strike Affects Wellston

WELLSTON, O., July 19.—The walkout of Harry Kisor, B. and O. switchman, this morning completely ties up the facilities for engine service at the coal dock in this city. There is a small amount of coal on hand in the docks and when this is used up and the strike remains unsettled the engines of the B. and O. will have to be supplied elsewhere. This makes two men out of the B. and O. at this place.

Over on the Hocking side C. M. Ryder, trainmaster, and Road Foreman of Engines Dwyer were in the city from Logan this morning endeavoring to settle the difference with two watchmen, G. J. Saddler and Chester Saunders, who recently walked out at Jackson. These men quit because duties of striking shopmen were being added to their daily service, they claimed. It is said now that the men demand higher wages and they are yet out. Three men are out on the Hocking.

The railway strike seems to be lightening up. On the B. and O. 91 freight was annulled today and the Portsmouth-Wellston switchers have been taken off the other making a round trip every two days. Through train No. 1 R. and O. was three hours late this morning.

$1,000 Bond Holds Baby Slayer

Calm and maintaining the same composure since her arrest Monday night, Mrs. Edith Humphreys, about 20, of near Latham, Pike county, entered a plea of "not guilty" when given a preliminary hearing before Squire Thomas A. Brown at Waverly, at nine o'clock this morning. Mrs. Humphreys was represented by Attorney S. D. McLaughlin of Waverly. The magistrate held her to the grand jury under $1,000 bond and being unable to furnish bond this morning she was returned to jail. Relatives hope to raise the necessary $1,000 soon so they can secure her release from jail.

Mrs. Humphreys entered the plea to a charge of second degree murder. The young woman was arrested Monday night at the home Mr. and Mrs. George Miller in Benton township, after she had told Mr. Miller that it was the body of her baby girl found in a suit case in her room with an apron string tight about the neck. She said she had put the body in the suit case after wrapping it in old clothes.

Mrs. Humphreys' mother Mrs. Dawson Holton, a sister and brother, were in the court this morning. The little court room was packed to overflowing with Waverly citizens and residents from Benton township.

Mr. Edwards Buys Novelty Business

M. T. Edwards who has been with the Lee Lumber Company as their outside man for three years has severed his connection with that firm to engage in the leather novelty business. Through a deal closed today Mr. Edwards came into possession of the John Brown leather novelty factory located at 335 Front street. Mr. Brown expects to leave the city and may engage in the same business in Cincinnati.

The leather novelty factory is turning out purses and billfolds of all kinds in addition to a complete line of novelties. About fifteen people are employed in the work. Mr. Edwards intends to give all his time to the new business venture and in the near future hopes to enlarge the business.

Women Electors Hear Candidates Discussed

About fifty women electors of Portsmouth, gathered at the Security bank assembly room this morning to hear a talk made by Mrs. Mary Cartwright, of Delaware, and talks by Attorney S. A. Skelton and Attorney Russell McCurdy, candidates for Prosecuting Attorney and by Rome Arthur and B. Frank Bennett, candidates for sheriff.

The attendance was gratifying, indicating the women are taking more interest in political affairs of the state and nation.

Mrs. Cartwright, who is sent out to talk to women voters all over the state is working under the auspices of a woman's organization of Columbus. She has been doing considerable work in southern Ohio, where the women have not been taking such active part in politics as in other parts of the state.

Mrs. Cartwright spoke of the character and platform of each state candidate, both Democratic and Republican. She was formerly engaged in state warfare work until June when her department ceased to function on account of a lack of funds. She is well informed on political matters, and brought interesting messages to the local women. After the talks an informal discussion was held, the women asking Mrs. Cartwright many questions which she answered. She is well informed on how each candidate stands on women's suffrage, the wet and dry fight, and legislative bills that are of interest to women. Miss Edna Streich presided as chairman of the meeting and introduced the speakers.

Road To Aberdeen Disgrace To Ohio

—SAYS LOCAL COUNCILMAN

James G. Bauer, Third Ward councilman, has just returned from a motor trip through southwestern Ohio and northern Kentucky. With Mr. Bauer on the trip were his wife and son John, also Mr. Bauer's father, Mr. Phillip Bauer, and his wife.

The party left here Saturday morning and made the following points, stopping over Sunday in Cincinnati with friends; Chillicothe, Washington C. H., Xenia, Dayton, Cincinnati. Thus far the party reports the pike in excellent condition.

The trip was resumed Monday morning. Mr. Bauer warns everyone planning a trip over this route to avoid the Dixie Highway from Covington to Georgetown. This road is concrete and smooth to a point twelve miles south of Covington, but from there to Georgetown is in wretched shape, being an old water-bound macadam and full of holes and loose limestone.

From Georgetown the route covered Frankfort and Lawrenceburg.

After a short stay with friends at the latter place, the return home was started by way of Lexington, Paris, Maysville, Manchester and Buena Vista. The road from Lexington to Maysville is a fine one and a beautiful drive and a credit to the state of Kentucky.

"But the road from Aberdeen to Portsmouth, along the river, is awful and is a disgrace to the state of Ohio. Do not attempt to run this road from a point about two miles below Buena Vista to Manchester under any circumstances," warns Mr. Bauer.

"Bridges and culverts are out in places and chuckholes a foot and a half deep, loose limestone, ruts, etc., adorn the road from start to finish."

Aside from this bad road feature, the party enjoyed a splendid trip, having fine weather and no tire trouble, except the blowing out of an extra tire while the car was parked in Cincinnati.

JUDGE PECK REFUSES TO RECOMMEND TROOPS FOR PERRY COUNTY

CINCINNATI, O., July 19.—United States District Judge John W. Peck today refused to grant the application of the Consolidated Coal and Coke company that he certify to President Harding the need of federal troops in Perry County, Ohio, to protect the interests of the company there. The court in rendering the decision held that he had no jurisdiction in the matter.

The court refused to order the United States marshal to police the district in Perry county where trouble has occurred between striking miners and the employees of the company, owners of 400,000 tons of slack coal at New Straitsville. He refused also to order the marshals to police regarding his refusal to order U. S. marshals into the district, the court stated that "this is not an application for an injunction or for the punishment of persons charged by the state with contempt of court by violating an injunction now threatened. The primary question now involved is whether the guarding of an industry under such circumstances is the function of a court of equity. Neither specific statutes nor the general salutatory equity, jurisdiction confer any such power on this court."

"To do so would be to go beyond any well recognized or established jurisdiction and to undertake a function not devolving on the court by statutes or the usages of equity, but upon the executive branch of government."

In refusing to ask President Harding to send troops to the slack pike, Judge Peck said that "it is thought that this court should not undertake to make a decision of that which is solely for the determination of the president of the United States, that is to say the necessity of using troops in a state in a given emergency. Ordinary administration of the affairs of the government is never more important than in critical times. In such orderly administration the function which this court is now asked to exercise belongs exclusively to the executive and not to the judicial branch of the government."

Kiwanians Hear Talk On "Making A Newspaper"

While the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club held at the Mary Loube, Wednesday afternoon, was one of the liveliest events of its kind since the organization was formed, the members are anxiously awaiting their weekly meet, which is to be held at the Selby Cottage, Rosemont Road next Thursday afternoon and evening. This outing will especially appeal to those members who were so fortunate as to meet at that particular place several months ago. It was one of the climaxes in the life of the club, and there is no question but the outing on next Thursday will live up to the record made recently. The members are to assemble at the post office corner at 2 o'clock, where auto will be provided. A game of baseball will be played and a scout will be on the sidelines to select the team that is to represent the Kiwanians, providing a certain challenge to be issued is accepted.

At Wednesday's meeting, P. W. Sheridan, advertising manager of the Daily Times and Sun, read a paper on "The Making of a Newspaper." Mr. Sheridan's paper was based on his twenty-two years of experience with the Daily Times. He compared the Times of today with what it was twenty-two years ago—making the most progressive steps that had been taken—how the paper had grown from a circulation of less than 3000 to more than 14,000—telling of the days when the paper was "set" by six compositors in comparison with the present day when a battery of eight linotype machines are in constant use. He stated that twenty-two years ago the newspaper used in a days issue weighed but 400 pounds—now two tons and more are used daily. When four tons were required twenty years ago, sixty tons were used per month now. The speaker told of the extensive circulation enjoyed by the paper in adjacent counties of Ohio and Kentucky, and bespoke of the loyalty of the men and women employed in getting out the paper to its readers. The speaker did not follow the beaten path, but added a little spice and took the members absolutely in his confidence. He stated that the progress made by the paper was accepted as a matter of fact—that only those who had been connected with the paper could appreciate the great forward stride. He was positive in his conclusion that no city the size of Portsmouth could boast of better papers than the Evening Times, Morning Sun and Sunday Times—papers that have always stood for Portsmouth and her people and had played a most humble part in the development of this city. Mr. Sheridan was warmly felicitated upon his paper, and judging from the applause that greeted the speaker at the close the Kiwanians club membership is a unit in its high regard for Portsmouth's publications.

A. R. Wolcott, of Los Angeles, Cal., the premier salesman for the Selby Shoe Co., was present, the guest of George D. Selby, who introduced him. Mr. Wolcott made a most pleasing impromptu talk, defending Hollywood against the standards of statements that have been sent broadcast concerning the immorality supposing to exist among the 25,000 movie artists who live there. He said nine-tenths of the published reports were slanderous, and for which there was really no justification. He reported that Los Angeles was growing rapidly, that 50,000 new houses were going up, and that building permits for the coming years would reach $120,000,000.

Mr. Lloyd of Huntington, W. Va., was the guest of St. Straus, but allowed St. to do his talking.

Rome Arthur Injured

Rome Arthur, chief of the police force at the Whitaker-Glessner steel plants was injured, though not seriously, about five-thirty o'clock Tuesday afternoon when his automobile skidded into the curbing of Gallia street, just this side of New Boston. Mr. Arthur was jolted about in the machine so violent was the impact when the machine crashed into a telephone pole and he was hurt about his back. He was on his way home at the time and he was forced to continue his journey on a street car as his auto was put out of commission, two wheels being smashed and the vehicle was otherwise damaged.

Canvass For Building Fund

The canvass for funds for the new Masonic Temple to be erected on Gallia street, is progressing nicely. Several teams reporting last night. There are a number of teams of two

TWELFTH ANNIVE RSARY OF JOKE

July 27th is the twelfth anniversary of a card bound in ishlugs hanging in John Russell's store on Chillicothe street. On this card there are nine names inscribed and a penny glued over each name. The occasion of binding this picture with the free will offerings of a penny, was when Joe Carroll, formerly of this city and of the Carroll Vehicle company, sprained his ankle and the nine names were inscribed donated. Mr. Carroll one cent apiece for "relief."

He was so touched by their "generosity" that he had the pennies framed and the names of the donors put under them. The givers were J. W. Russell, T. Conroy, D. Flannigan, M. Keene, F. Schneider, A. Gierke, M. Kelley, S. Hertz, and E. Schilde.

Quits Insurance Business
A. R. Campbell, attorney in the Masonic Temple, has sent in his resignation as agent of the Western Southern Insurance company after being actively engaged as an agent of the company since 1908. JACKSON COUNTRY CLUB ASSURED

JACKSON, O., July 19.—The clearing of the Country Club lands begins this week. The fairways of the golf course will be plowed and Kentucky blue grass planted. Work will start on the building of the club house as soon as the architect completes the plans. Fencing and ornamentation of the grounds will also proceed and a landscape gardener may be secured the coming season to arrange a pleasing setting of shrubbery and flowers so that the grounds will be especially attractive and inviting.

At a meeting of the governors of the Country Club, John E. Jones presiding at Jackson last evening it was decided to close the deal for the lands near Moore's school house as originally decided upon. It was further decided to construct a swimming pool in addition to the other amusement features of the club. The pool will be 30x100 and will cost six thousand dollars. Work on the pool, club house, tennis court and other improvements will proceed at once. The estimated cost of the lands and improvements is $25,000.

The membership of the club is almost full up. Jackson now has 100 and Oak Hill 25 members. It is hoped to swell the Wellston list to 100.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., July 19.—Inability to obtain cars was given today as the reason for a slump in coal loadings in this state last week, according to the West Virginia Coal Operators' Association. Some mines, it was said, were working only three days out of six because they could not get cars.

Total loadings from 867 mines were 1,083,750 tons, a decline of more than 300,000 tons as compared with the previous week. The greatest decrease was in the Kanawha and northern West Virginia fields. The Logan and Norfolk and Western territories showed a slump.

Kiddies Of Children's Home Will Enjoy Circus As Guests Of Exchange Club Members

The kiddies of the Children's Home will be taken to the coming Hagenbeck-Wallace circus, which will be in Portsmouth Friday, July 28, as the guests of the local Exchange club.

The club members will go after the youngsters in automobiles, bring them to the circus grounds, see that they have some money to spend on circus day goodies, and then take them home after the happy day is over.

The Exchangeites plan to make the occasion a memorable one in the lives of the youngsters, and will try to arrange all details so that there will be no happier children anywhere on that afternoon than their little guests. A committee consisting of Forrest Williams, J. Frost Davis and Eric Ferguson has charge of the planning, and promise that nothing will be left undone to please the children.

The decision to bring cheer to the youngsters was made at the meeting of the Exchange club last evening, at the Wilson House, Jasper, where one of the most pleasant outings of the season was enjoyed by the club members. Baseball, horseshoe pitching and other sports were enjoyed. The big chicken dinner was, of course, the main feature of the occasion. All present voted the dinner could not be beaten anywhere.

Following the dinner the club members gathered on the lawn and enjoyed an hour of singing.

The committee in charge which looked after all arrangements most efficiently consisted of Messrs. W. H. Ruggles, John L. Neudoerfer and George W. Breece.

WOMAN VICTIM DIES

Mrs. Chloe Elizabeth Jamison, 22 years old, victim of the accidental shooting which occurred at the Jamison home, No. 1 Front street, late Monday afternoon, succumbed to the wound shortly after six o'clock Tuesday evening at Mercy hospital, where she was taken following the firing of the shot which proved fatal.

Mrs. Jamison was conscious to the last, and her husband, Floyd Jamison, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Shaw, were at her bedside when the end came. In a statement to her relatives, Mrs. Jamison is said to have absolved James Hardin, who fired the fatal shot, from all blame, declaring that it was purely accidental and requesting that he be released from custody.

Hardin, according to his story and supported by other eye-witnesses, shot the woman when a revolver belonging to her husband, which he was demonstrating, was accidentally discharged. Hardin claimed that he did not know the weapon was loaded.

The police investigation indicated that the firing of the shot was accidental and due to the careless handling of the pistol, and after Mr. Jamison in an interview confirmed Hardin's story, the latter was released from custody last night by Chief Distel.

Hardin is 35 years old and formerly lived at Scioto Furnace. He is now employed at the Peebles brick plant and boards in New Boston. He is separated from his wife, who has a suit for divorce and alimony pending in the local Common Pleas court. The case was partially submitted recently and the evidence disclosed that Hardin shot his wife with a shot-gun a couple of years ago, but she was not seriously hurt. He claimed this was accidental.

Mother Of Three
Mrs. Jamison, who was born at Friendship, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Shaw, who reside near their daughter and son-in-law. She is the mother of three children, Charles aged 5, Donald, aged 2, and Paul, aged three months. She was married to Mr. Jamison about six years ago. She came to Portsmouth with her parents about eight years ago.

Post Mortem Is Held
The body was taken to the Lynn Undertaking establishment last night and county coroner, Dr. J. D. Hendrickson and Mrs. Gilbert Micklethwaite and T. J. McCormick conducted a post mortem examination.

"Accidental" Is Verdict
Coroner Hendrickson, following the post mortem, issued the following statement, and pronounced the shooting accidental. The bullet entered above the clavical and went through the right lung pushing the blood down and backward through the aorta.

The bullet was taken out four and a half inches from the spine on the left side one half inch under the skin between the ninth and tenth ribs. The cause of death was shock and hemorrhage.

The funeral will be held from the Jamison home Friday and burial will be made at Friendship cemetery.

Chillicothe Bootlegger Up To Many Tricks To Escape Capture; One Costs Him Just $2,100

"Everytime there is a bootlegging raid about in connection with narrow escapes from being caught, etc. The capture of Saturday night is an exception to the rule and the regulars who are posted on all events tell an interesting story," says the Chillicothe News-Advertiser.

"It seems that one of the local dealers who has been making regular trips to Detroit and bringing back several hundred dollars worth of first-class Canadian whisky on every occasion, was away Saturday night when the raid took place. His assistants in the city, of course, not knowing what all might happen, naturally became alarmed and determined that the best thing to do was to get in touch with the absent one.

"Just how to do this was of course a problem. It was all figured out, however, and the traveler was met at the viaduct at Columbus. Hasty information was imparted during the council of war and then came the time to act. The car, happened to contain $500 worth of the best liquor which meant at least a thousand to the peddler if he could only get it here for delivery. According to all reports it has been safely done. The method was simple. The whisky was brought within several miles of Chillicothe and then it was carefully hid in a field, after which the afore-said driver came jauntily to the city. Had he been molested, which he was not, his car would have been perfectly clear and the officers would have been laughed at for their trouble.

"The next morning another car went out into the country and brought the booze safely to town. So far as is known some of it was consumed before the day was over.

In connection with the same bootlegger, who is said to have cleaned up a small fortune since the country went dry, they tell the story that some few weeks ago he purchased a new car which was provided with a false bottom and was ideal for the purpose of transporting liquor, but he lost the car on his first trip. This is how it happened:

"After loading up at Detroit with $800 worth of the oil of joy, he started on his way home, taking the route so well known to him. He drove into Ashabula with the same spirit of confidence that he had always done before, and arriving there about noon figured it was time to eat. He parked in front of a prominent restaurant and taking a companion with him, sat down in a front seat to enjoy a well earned meal.

"In a little while up walked a copper. He gave the car a careful once-over and then shortly after two other fellows, not in uniform, walked up and they, too, made a careful investigation. Almost in the next breath the three officers took seats in the car. The jig was up.

"But this bootlegger knew a trick worth two of that. He and his companion quietly ate their meal, paid the bill and walked out of the restaurant as unconcerned as if they had never seen an automobile in their entire lives. They took a short cut for the depot and the next train coming south had them on board. That it happened to be a freight made no difference. It was rather warm in Ashabula, anyway.

RARDEN MAN TO OPEN ROOMING HOUSE

Dolly Castle, Animal Trainer With The Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus and One Of Her Pets.

"Hello, Dear Folks:
"Circus day is gettin' rather close and I 'spose most of you have made up your mind as to what you want to see most of all. Friday, July 28 the majestic Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus will be here and it will present you with an exhibition that will have everything you are looking for.

"Yes, there certainly is a lot. Take for instance the trained animal acts. Gosh, the nerve it must take to go inside one of these cages with them beasts growling as you enter. Then how that guy who does go in, gets them to jump around and do stunts just as he wants them. They are afraid of him, but it must take some skill to make them that way.

"Then there will be the flyin' people—acrobats or aerialists—you know who I mean.

"Then there's the big menagerie and the big long street parade, more than one mile in length, just filled with surprises. Guess I can't tell you all there will be for it would take too much paper.

"But, they tell me that there will be a downtown ticket office opened at Wurster's drug store where tickets will be sold at the same prices as on the show grounds, so this is a convenience well worth having.

"Guess I will end this letter, as your pal,

BOILS!

Nature's Way of Warning
you that your blood is impure.

Boils are unnatural and offensive! Don't take a chance that all your blood impurities will force their way through the skin.

Take S. S. S. and watch your skin clear up and your blood made rich and pure.

The power of S. S. S. is an acknowledged fact. Right off, it clears the skin of boils, pimples, blotches, acne, eczema, rash and other skin eruptions—and does it thoroughly.

Boils are unnatural and offensive! Don't take a chance that all your blood impurities will force their way through the skin.

In other words, the local man deserted his new car and its entire contents. That was simply a part of the fortunes of war. It is well known in the game he played that once in a while you have to lose and that was the first loss. There may be others. That meant a clear loss of $2,100 and it has to be made back."

Dr. J. Franklin Babb lecturing on "The 100 Per Cent Man" delighted a capacity audience at the Chautauqua tent last night. His lecture was preceded by a forty-five minute program rendered by the Apollo Concert company.

During the intermission, Mr. E. W. Miller, manager of the local Chautauqua, addressed the audience. Mr. Miller introduced Dr. Babb as "the sunshine lecturer of New England."

Dr. Babb with his sparkling wit and humor, struck a sympathetic cord in the hearts of his hearers.

His "man" is a real human—not necessarily the college bred man, nor yet the man of wealth and position.

He is the man of Kipling's "If" facing defeat with a smile, laughing in the face of misfortune; ever carrying on, down, but never out; with head held high and determination that never fails.

Portsmouth's chautauqua course was opened yesterday afternoon by a delightful program rendered by the Apollo Concert Company. From the very first the contagious good-humor of the entire company put the large audience in an appreciative mood.

Rev. C. E. Sevierhaus introduced Manager W. E. Miller, of the Apollo Company, who thanked the assembly for the support Portsmouth has given to the course. Mr. Miller then introduced the Apollo Concert Company, which entertained the audience for an hour and a half with music, clever monologues and piano-logues.

Mr. E. W. Wells, the manager of the company, and Mrs. Wells won the audience at once with their witty remarks and bright genial smiles. Mr. Wells introduced the individual members of the company by cleverly rhymed phrases, after the first Apollo-phone number. The Apollo-phone, a special instrument made and named for the Apollo Concert Company, was perhaps the most popular of the instruments used. "Sweet and Low," always popular, was even more so, rendered on the unique instrument.

Several vocal duets were rendered by the ladies of the company. Mr. and Mrs. Wells displayed noteworthy dramatic ability in their clever rendition of "Fanny You Fancied Me," while Mrs. Wells's piano-logue, "Just Black and White," was the most applauded number on the program.

Besides the musical numbers, Mr. Wells told two stories, one of them serious, the other humorous.

This afternoon the Lewis Concert Party, featuring Mr. Sam Lewis, the Welsh tenor, entertained the local audience, while this evening, after a 45 minute prologue by the Lewis Concert Party, Miss Ada Ward, of London, will give her lecture, "You Americans."

The personnel of the Lewis Concert Party is Sam Lewis, tenor; John Schuler, violinist; Marie Colton, pianist; and Nell Adams, reader.

Plan To Remit Fines For Food Profiteering

WASHINGTON, July 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Passage of a bill by Senator Elkins, Republican, West Virginia, to remit the fines of persons convicted during the war of profiteering in food has been recommended by the department of justice to the senate claims committee.

Robert H. Lovell, assistant attorney general, has written the committee endorsing the Elkins bill, advising the legislation in view of the fact that the supreme court declared void a section of the food control act under which fines of $277,000 were imposed. The court's decision gave convicted persons the right to sue for return of fines paid amounting to $121,000.

STOCKHOLM, July 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Notwithstanding the denial issued by the soviet embassy at Riga yesterday of the statement made by the Riga correspondent of the Svenska Dagbladet, that he had been reliably informed Premier Lenine, of soviet Russia, had been poisoned, the correspondent today telegraphed his newspaper here from Riga that he had obtained confirmation of his statement.

Crown On Downward Slide; Plan Check

VIENNA, July 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—The two principal features of the government's financial program the new issue bank and forced loan bills are on the eve of enactment, but have not served to check the downward slide of the crown, which is now between 35,000 and 37,000 for the dollar.

When the loan bill was introduced the crown was 11,000 to the dollar; thus, it is pointed out, the expected four hundred billion revenue has already lost nearly half its gold value.

Knight Opposed To State Constabulary

AKRON, O., July 19.—In a letter today to L. A. Ault, Cincinnati manufacturer, Congressman C. J. Knight, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, declared against the establishment of a state constabulary stating that less than three percent of the crime is committed in the rural districts and that he did not believe in burdening the farmers by increasing the police forces of the state.

Congressman Knight further stated that he believed such a force would become a political asset to any administration and that he had repeatedly stated that there now were too many office holders on the public payroll, and that if he were elected he would veto any measure passed by the legislature establishing a constabulary.

ARGUMENTS ON IN MURDER TRIAL

The trial of Willard Thompson, Russell youth, charged with first degree murder for the killing of Landon Maynard, near Chillicothe, last May, which started before Judge Halbert and a jury in the Circuit court in Greenup Tuesday morning, was nearing the end late this afternoon and it is expected that the fate of the youthful prisoner will be in the hands of the jury tonight.

Practically all of Tuesday was consumed in selecting the jury and the panel was not completed until four o'clock in the afternoon and a night session of court was held, at which the prosecution called a number of witnesses and finished its testimony in chief. The evidence adduced by the state tended to show that the accused was intoxicated at the time he shot Maynard to death and that he was the aggressor throughout the trouble.

When the trial was resumed Wednesday morning the defense had its opening and witnesses were called to support the defendant's claim that he acted entirely in self defense. The testimony was concluded before the noon recess and the arguments of counsel started this afternoon with the prospect that the attorneys would finish their addresses before the jury by five o'clock, in which event Judge Halbert will deliver his general charge and send the case to the jury.

TO HOLD A SECRET MEETING

LONDON, July 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—The announcement over night that today's meeting of the council of the League of Nations set for 10:30 o'clock, would be private, brought forth renewed expressions of disappointment because it was understood that the subject for discussion would be the Palestine and Syria mandates, which the opponents of privacy contend are particularly susceptible to the evils of traditional diplomatic bargaining.

There is reason to believe that the Vatican's opposition to the retracted article fourteen of the mandate will not be pressed as it has been decided that the Christian representation on the commission for custody of holy places shall be a Roman Catholic.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—I am a girl 17 years old and I want you to give me some advice. I am in love with a boy 21 years old, and he says he loves me. He wants me to marry him soon. Dolly, I am living with my sister, and I do what she tells me, and she wants me to wait a couple of years. Should I do so?

LONESOME.

Yes, you are too young to get married. Wait ten more years, then if no one else appears on the horizon whom you love more, marry this one.

Dear Dolly—As I want you to answer a few questions for me, Dolly, I am a young married woman and have one little baby daughter and my husband broke my heart a couple of days ago. He said he didn't care anything for me. Now, Dolly, I just think the world and all that is in it for my man and baby. So, Dolly, tell me, does he love me? He tells me he loves me, and then tells me he doesn't, so I don't know what to believe. Dolly, I cry and go on when he is out, thinking something has happened to him. When he comes in I ask him what was the matter? Then he tells me that it is none of my business and starts a quarrel. He won't let me go anywhere by myself or with him either. Also please send me a good recipe for canned tomatoes. M. L. D. G. Bruce-up, M. L. D. G. If he loved you when you were married, it is surely your fault if you have lost his love now. Do you see a difference in the girl he married and the girl who is his wife? Do you "bug" him when he doesn't do every little thing to please you, or just "kiss" him about it? Do you meet him with your face all tear-stained, or with smiles? You know which is the right way. Remember you have a good, strong back bone.

In my column of the other day I unintentionally failed to mention Hotel Norfolk as one of the best furnished hotels at Mineral Springs in reply to a question to this effect.

Dear Miss Wise—As you have helped so many, I am coming to you for advice. I am a married woman and have one child, 18 months old. Dolly, I came to Portsmouth some three months ago to work to support myself and child. My husband was not able to work. He gave his consent for me to come, as we were with his parents out in the country. Now Dolly, I am not able to work in the place I was working, and I asked him why he wanted me to do as they turned me off of my job, and he said he was going to sue me for a divorce.

Dolly, I love my husband and baby and it nearly breaks my heart to stay away from them. We have been married five years, but I always stayed at home and took care of my home and child until coming to Portsmouth to help myself and husband and baby. I believe his people are causing my husband to act this way. What would you do if you were me? I don't want to be separated from my husband and child. Everybody knows me and says that they don't see what would cause my husband to be so mean. Dolly, he is not able to work yet, but I have done my part in trying to help ourselves, but it seems as though he don't care for me.

WORRIED WIFE.
I think that the person you call your husband doesn't deserve being taken care of. Of course, if he is ill he should be looked after, I suppose, and especially since you love him, but I'd show a little independence and I believe you can win him over. If he doesn't appreciate you any more than that, I'd take my child and shift for myself, as I think that you have done the right thing.

Dear Miss Wise—Will you please give me the name and address of the foreman, or whoever I could get a position from at the pad factory at Greenfield, Ohio. And, Miss Wise, what is the population of Peebles, also of Maysville, Kentucky? I will certainly appreciate your answering my question. JANE.

Write to the superintendent of the foreman of the factory. His name is not necessary. The population of Peebles is between 1,000 and 1,200. The population of Maysville, Ky., in 1920 was 6,107.

Dear Miss Dolly—Will you please print a recipe for poke berry ink? A SCHOOL BOY.

Press the juice from the berries and boil one-half hour.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE

In winter the marriages of Nicaraguan Indians last longer than in summer for they are determined by the fires.

The priest leads the bride and groom to a ceremonial fire and instructs them in their duties. When the fire is out the two are legally married.

Naturally, the season regulates the size of the bonfire.

Adventures Of The Twins

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Georgie Guinea-Pig was sound asleep.

SCAR OWL hung up the receiver of his telephone and chuckled, and chuckled. "Tee, hee, hee!" he giggled. "They say I'm wise, and no one knows it better than I. I've just telephoned to Georgie Guinea-Pig I knew where he could find a tail and to Flop Fieldmouse I knew where he could lose one.

"They are to be here at 8 tonight! Hee, hee! I'll have a wait for my supper but when the time comes I'll have two."

About 6 Tommy Brown came along to look at Georgie. Georgie liked Tommy. Tommy was kind and sometimes lifted him gently and stroked him. Georgie chuckled to himself. Wouldn't Tommy be surprised when he came back next day and found him with a lovely long wavy tail!

Pretty soon the hired man came along and stopped. "Hello, Tom!" he said loudly. "Ever hold a guinea-pig up by his tail and watch his eyes drop out?"

MOLLY'S APPEAL GAINS FREEDOM FOR DON

BY ZOE BECKLEY

AS Billy led Don toward the door the fast-quieting atmosphere again was electrified at Wheeler's threat to put Don in jail. "Oh, come, now, Wheeler," protested Billy, dismayed at this. "Don't do his punishment. He must have gone through hell. Give him a chance to straighten out!"

"There's lots of chance for reflection in Midvale prison," Wheeler grinned mirthlessly as he moved to the telephone.

Billy regarded him with a cold disdain. "I should think," he said, "you could show yourself bigger than this, now the man's down. Take me on instead. I'm at least normal in mind and body."

Ervin Williams of Hutchins street has returned from Boston, Mass., where he attended a national shoe manufacturers' convention. Enroute home, Mr. Williams visited Mrs. Williams and two children who are spending the summer at their cottage at Lake Chautauque, N. Y.

HERBS USED IN MEDICINES

A Manchester, England, paper urges the renewed cultivation of old-fashioned medicinal herbs in English gardens. In the United States they have also gone out of fashion as a feature of the small garden, although they are imported in large quantities from Turkey, India and China, where they are grown purely for commercial purposes, as their medicinal value is recognized by many leading physicians. Tons of medicinal herbs are used annually in the preparation of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most successful medicine for women's ills. It contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and women afflicted with such ailments should try it.—Advertisement.

"Oh, I'll take you on, all right. I'm not the man to be set upon in such a way and then told to run along and forget it!" He jiggled the telephone hook irritably.

Molly came briskly forward and put her hand tightly over the mouthpiece.

"Of course you won't do it, Ben." She spoke with the simplicity of conviction. Molly's eyes held Wheeler's steadily, entreatingly. "Do it because I beg you to. Let him go."

Wheeler returned her look obstinately.

"You choose a pretty moment, my girl," he smiled a twisted jerk of his thin lips, "to ask favors of me. I must say you—"

"Oh, Ben, I don't ask it as a favor. It's my right. Haven't you said you'd do anything to win my love? Surely you'll do this thing to keep my friendship. I would do much more, my dear, to keep yours."

A little tender lilt in her voice touched the hard fiber of him, but he fought doggedly.

"I don't accept half things. Friendship! What's that from you to me? I want— But I guess you're shown pretty plainly what your feelings are—as that car has pointed out." He shot an ugly glance toward Don at the door.

Molly colored like the glow at morning in midsummer.

"This is hardly the moment for me to discuss that, Ben. The thing to settle now is this: Do you care enough for my friendship to show yourself a man, a really big man, when you're won?"

The squeak of the telephone operator's voice over the wire was the only sound for several breathless moments. Then came the clatter of the receiver back on its hook, and Wheeler's snarl, "Take him out of here then before I forget myself."

Don wearily left the room. Billy was about to follow, but Wheeler called out:

"Remember, Barton, the fight's on. I'm not done with you yet. You'll find a letter from the Carson Company at your office."

The TATTOOED ARM

Hazel Ostrander 1075 SEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The strange and unexplained eccentricity of three wealthy, sedate and middle-aged brothers has caused OWEN MILES, detective sergeant, and his colleague, FERGUS MCCREARY, known as "Scottie," to investigate on the request of PATRICIA DRAKE, daughter of the youngest brother, HOBART DRAKE, a Wall Street broker, who started his neighbors by appearing in the town square, clothed in a sheet, and delivering a mock oration.

Miles, in the guise of a houseman, is employed at the home, and on his first night hears two brothers, ROGER, the scientist, and ANDREW, who has recently come from Australia, talking in loud tones. Roger, by making a burlesque of a scientific paper, and Andrew, by playing with tops on the parlor floor, had equaled Hobart in eccentricity.

"I'm not going to endure it," Miles heard Roger cry. "There is a way out, quick and sure."

GO ON WITH STORY
"You're talking like an ass and worse—a coward!" Andrew interjected with sudden, subdued fury. "Jerry's all right but you've forgotten Hobart's girl! Could she live down the fact that her uncle was a suicide?"

"You know what chance we have of averting what is coming?" Roger laughed in a strained falsetto which made the listening detective shudder in spite of himself and there was a quick movement within the room. "Pat had better live with the knowledge that one of both of her uncles—and her father as well—had died by their own hands than that all three of them were!"

"Here! None of that!" Andrew cried. He had evidently thrown caution to the winds for his tones had risen to a bellow and a door opened down the hall. Miles retreated hastily toward his screening corner of the wall near the back stairs but not before the sound of a sharp struggle came from the room where the brothers were, followed by an oath and the tinkle and crash of shattered glass.

At the thought Miles sprang downstairs and darting out the window he concealed himself in the shadow of one of the great pillars. No one was in sight. Leaping from the porch he ran around the rear of the house to the other side. The parlor was dark now but the two faint patches of light from Roger's room still fell upon the sparse grass of last year's lawn. In the glow of the farther one, something glistened like a handful of diamonds.

Broken glass! He had anticipated a pistol or perhaps even a knife of some sort but not a bottle!

Throwing himself flat upon his face the detective writhed inch by inch along the ground until he was close to the scattered fragments of the bottle and then he saw among them a number of tiny white tablets. Seizing a handful of the gravel and tablets together Miles stuffed it into a pocket of his trousers and ran swiftly around the house again to the library window.

CHAPTER V

CARTER was ill the following morning—a touch of sciatica—and the new houseman was forced to assume the more complex duties.

Under the kindly guidance of Pierre, he finished arranging the table for breakfast and then remembered the mail. When he had cleaned the lower hall a short time before it had not arrived, but now a small heap of letters and rolled circulars and periodicals lay upon the table and he sorted them rapidly. There was nothing from Andrew Drake nor Miss Patricia, but a formidable pile of correspondence awaited Roger and several letters were addressed to Miss Jerusha. There was only one envelope to place beside Hobart Drake's plate.

Miles noted idly that it was plain, with a typed address and a New York City postmark. Then he hurried out and returned with the fruit just as the elder Miss Drake entered.

"Good morning, William." She inclined her gray head formally. "I see you have made a good beginning. Mabel, my maid, tells me that Carter is ill and you have assumed his duties."

The three brothers entered almost together and took their places with a perfunctory greeting to their sister. Roger seemed drooping and shaken and his drawn, young-old face paled as his glance fell on the heap of correspondence beside his plate. He pushed it aside with a gesture of horror and Andrew remarked:

"More scientific criticism, I suppose? Throw it all in the fire, old man, and don't bother your head about it!"

Patricia's entrance created a break in the tenseness of the atmosphere, and she eyed the detective in startled, confused recognition, but his expression was bland until he reached the shelter of the pantry to which her gaze had followed him, when he raised a quick nod of warning and reassurance. A slight flush suffused her face and she turned to her father, only to exclaim in amazement and alarm:

"Daddy! What is it?"

Only Miss Drake was silent but her eyes were fixed with burning intensity upon the unpurged countenance of her youngest brother as he brought his fist, clenching his solitary letter, down violently upon the table.

"Trouble?" he repeated hoarsely. "Trouble enough!—It's such pain for himself when you stand with your back against the wall, and I'm going to fight!"

He strode from the room with the open letter still in his hand and they heard the library door close behind him and the key turn in the lock.

The meal ended shortly and Miles was clearing away the dishes and silver when he observed that the envelope of the letter which had caused Hobart Drake such agitation was still lying where he had dropped it on the floor beside his chair. He stooped hastily and pocketed it and then finished his work in the dining room.

He had started for the back stairs when Miss Drake asked:

"William, do you know how to drive a car?"

Had the opportunity presented itself to send the promised wire to Scottie? The detective gave an inward start.

"Yes, ma'am."

"That is fortunate, William. Mr. Hobart must be taken to the station at once."

Miles brought the car to the door to find Hobart waiting on the porch steps, watch in hand.

"Get me to the station as quick as you can."

The train was just pulling in as he drew up at the station platform. Miles noted the significant glances and nudges of the loungers as they recognized Hobart Drake and realized anew the humiliation which his young client, Miss Patricia, must have endured.

His thoughts returned again to her, the innocent victim of the mysterious calamity which had overtaken her people, when after he had safely dispatched his wire to Scottie, he was bowing slowly back to the house. It did not come wholly as a surprise when he was hailed by an athletic-looking young man who stood by a low, red runabout at the side of the road.

The young man advanced and leaned confidentially over the wheel. "My name's Richard Kemp. I'll

What could it have contained to drive him into such a tempest of fury?

The detective was turning it over speculatively in his hands when suddenly he uttered a sharp exclamation. He needed no magnifying glass to verify the truth; the canceled stamp had been transferred from another envelope and the postmark was a forgery. That letter had never passed through the mails!

CHAPTER VI
It was close to midnight when a stocky figure enveloped in a heavy, silver-wormed it was through a gap in the hedge and started a circuitous course about the Drake house.

A faint glimmer showed on the third floor and silhouetted against the dim patch of light appeared the profile of a man. The watcher below picked up a handful of loose gravel which he flung against the window.

WILLIAM, DO YOU KNOW HOW TO DRIVE A CAR?

give you five dollars if you'll take a note to the young lady up there, Miss Patricia, and see that she gets it quietly. Do you understand?"

In a quick flash of memory Miles recalled the deep blush which had mounted in the young girl's face when during their first interview at John Wells' office she mentioned the "Kemp place," and a light broke over him.

"I think I do sir," he smiled slightly.

"You're all right!" Kemp clapped him on the shoulder. "There won't be any immediate answer but I'll be at—at the place she knows every evening at six sharp. Here you are!"

He produced an envelope and a five-dollar bill, both of which Miles accepted gratefully.

"Thank you, sir. I'll deliver the note myself—Goodby, sir."

He drove speedily back to the Drake estate and around to the garage to put up the car. As Miles descended from the car he beheld a battle-scarred tom-cat clawing to reach a plate of stale meat on a high shelf, and an inspiration came to him. Taking the envelope from his pocket containing the five tablets, he selected one of them and, rolling it in a small piece of meat, he dropped it on the floor. With a growl the cat pounced upon it. For a moment the animal crouched and then its eyes widened with a look of almost human surprise. It rose, turned in a wavered half-circle and then all at once relaxed rather than fell upon its side with all four feet outstretched and the lurid eyes flamed.

So Roger had not been bluffing, after all! As Miles replaced the envelope in his pocket, his fingers came in contact with another, the one which Hobart Drake had dropped on the dining room floor.

Poor Deal for Kansas City
The Kansas City club had no trouble of ridding itself of Joe Acosta by peddling him to Mobile but there was some difficulty in getting rid of John (Lefty) Russell, who also came from the Chicago White Sox in the deal for Ford Schupp. Russell was sold to Dallas, but asked too much money and was turned back. Then he was offered to Tulsa, which was willing to take him, but not at the salary Russell asked.

Called Home From Vacation
The vacation of George Vandervort and family of 1801 Franklin avenue, was cut short by the word that Mr. Vandervort's father-in-law, S. E. Crickenger, well-known father of Haverhill, was ill at his home. The vacation was to be of three weeks' duration at Houghton Lake, Michigan and only ten days of the period had elapsed when it was thought best to come home, due to Mr. Crickenger's condition.

Nature's remedy for constipation will give you permanent relief!

Thousands upon thousands of people are today suffering from constipation in all its hideousness; few realize either the cause of their condition or what it will eventually lead to. Ask the average man or woman if they are constipated and they will answer "No!" This they truly believe. But, the first thing the physician asks his patient is—"Let me see your tongue." If the tongue is coated he knows the patient is suffering from constipation! A coated tongue, a bad breath—they are constipation signals! Start the use of nature's remedy—BRAN—Kelllogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, as fast as you can! You must eliminate this dangerous condition because it goes from bad to worse! Toxigenous poisons spread through the whole system; organs become affected; the brain goes down. Any one of many serious diseases is likely to follow!

Fight constipation with Kelllogg's Bran! For Bran is nature's own sweeter, cleaner and purifier! It will correct the most chronic case of constipation if it is eaten regularly; it will prevent constipation if a little is eaten each day! For mild cases, two tablespoonfuls daily; in chronic cases, eat Bran with each meal. Your physician will recommend Kelllogg's Bran for constipation!

Kelllogg's Bran is fine for children, helping them grow big and robust. Kelllogg's Bran is deliciously good as a cereal, sprinkled over your favorite cereal, or used in baking and cooking. It makes wonderful pancakes, muffins, raisin bread, etc. See recipes on each package! Buy Kelllogg's Bran at your grocer's.

Almost instantly the light was extinguished, there came the slight, grating sound of a carefully raised sash, and the tiny spark of a cigarette gleamed just above the sill. A low, peculiar whistle emanated from the lips of the nocturnal visitor and the cigarette, describing a wide arc, fell upon the lawn almost at his feet as the window was softly closed once more.

In a few moments the kitchen door opened and Owen Miles in the sweater and slippers of his nightly vigil slipped around the corner of the house.

"Scottie, old scout! I knew you'd try to get in touch with me if you could and I've been making a motion picture 'still' of myself against that window shade since nine o'clock," he whispered. Have you learned anything?

Combat Train Members Learn To Use Field Radio Outfit

Members of the Combat Train rigged up their field radio last night in Mound Park and in record time they were in communication with the armory across from Flood and Blake's drug store in the East End. It required only five minutes to get in touch with the East End station and this is the best time in which the connection has been made. More men are needed in the company who are interested in radio. The company will have an up to date radio station in their new armory in the former Windel building as soon as they get installed which will be some time next week.

WE don't believe in trick tires. "Secret processes," "wonderful discoveries" and all the rest of the mystery family have a hard job trying to last even half as long as plain, honestly-built standard tires.

And when these standard formula tires are built more liberally in dimensions—larger, heavier, more wear-resistant—then is found the extra value—the extra strength and stamina—the extra satisfaction—that marks the very few really fine tires.

Better tires than Lancasters—either Cord or Fabric—have never been made. Add there are no better values.

THE CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILWAY COMPANY

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

Richmond, Va., July 18th, 1922

To the Clerks and Affiliated Employees of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Co.:

We are informed that a strike will be called by the organization with which some of our Clerks are affiliated. On July 12th I addressed to you a communication in which I quoted from an agreement which we have with that organization two rules bearing directly on questions which seem to be at issue. I have been allowed to see the official strike ballot. I find that in this strike ballot three questions are presented on which you were requested to vote as to whether or not you would strike, as follows:

First: You were asked to vote as to whether or not you would strike in protest against the reduction in wages effective July 1, 1922, which reduction was in accordance with the decision of the United States railroad labor board, made after exhaustive consideration of the question, upon which numerous hearings were held, at which you were strongly and ably represented. As I advised you in my letter of July 12th an agreement was entered into on April 27, 1922, between this company and the organization in which the rules governing employment and methods of determining the rates of pay were agreed upon. Among the rules agreed to was Rule No. 54, reading as follows: "Rates of pay for employees named herein will be those mutually agreed upon by the C. and O. executive board of the organization, party to this agreement and representatives of the company or as authorized by the United States Railroad Labor Board." Surely no one can construe this rule to mean anything but that if the representatives of the organization could not agree with the representatives of the company as to rates of pay that they in this agreement made on April 27, 1922, agreed to accept the rates of pay as authorized by the United States Railroad Labor Board.

Second: You were asked to vote as to whether or not you would strike for the restoration of rates of pay providing prior to July 1, 1922. In other words, you were asked to vote as to whether or not you would accept rates of pay which have been in effect for an entire year. In view of the fact that in the agreement, dated April 27, 1922, there is no mention of any protest as to your wages in effect since July 1, 1921, nearly a year prior to that date of the April agreement, it would seem that this is rather a late date to inject this into the situation, and can only be regarded as an attempt to further aggravate the matter by producing an alleged additional grievance.

Third: This section states that February 25, 1922, the management issued a ruling declaring vacations and sick leaves with pay abrogated, effective March 1, 1922, and in so doing they declared the "Previous Practices" rule cancelled, although they failed to first have conferences with the duly accredited committee of the employees "as required." Nor have the employees ever been convinced but that the railway erred in its arbitrary action. April 10, 1922, the president of the railway issued general instructions to the heads of departments with respect to sick leaves, vacations and Saturday afternoons relief which afforded the employees nothing like as good as agreements in these respects as formerly existed. "Will you strike for the restoration of the previous practices as they existed prior to March 1, 1922?" We consider the rules with reference to vacations, sick leaves, etc., as having been eliminated by the ruling of the Labor Board in Decision No. 630. I promulgated instructions in accordance with our interpretation of this ruling, in which I endeavor to do what seemed to me to be the fair thing so far as this condition was concerned. I still think that our present rule is entirely fair. The organization's representatives, however, did not feel that our construction of the rule was proper and in view of that fact we jointly submitted it to the Labor Board.

It is still pending before the Labor Board who have not yet announced a decision in the matter. It would not seem that it is reasonable to strike upon a matter which has not yet been decided, by the authority to whom we jointly submitted it. In striking on that issue the law is being violated as it requires that no strike shall occur until after the Labor Board decides the issues involved, and they have not yet decided that issue, although it is before them on joint submission. It seems to me in view of the above explanation, in which I have tried to be as accurate as I can possibly be, that if a strike is declared it will be a useless one, and clearly and directly in violation of the agreement made by your organization. If the organization will not adhere to its agreement, signed by its responsible representatives it would seem useless to attempt to make an agreement with it. I desire to reiterate, and strongly emphasize, the facts contained in my letter to you of July 14th, reading as follows: "Information has reached this company from reliable sources that a number of our employees have been advised that if they do not go on strike, if they are so ordered by the clerks' organization they will not be allowed to retain their positions when the strike is over. This company assures every employee who remains with the company that he or she will be protected in the performance of their duties and that they will also be protected in the retention of their positions when the strike is over, if one occurs."

In the event the clerks do strike, it will be necessary, of course, under the law and to carry out its duties to the public for the company to continue to operate the property, for which the necessary complement of clerks will be required.

W. J. HARAHAH, President

HISTORICAL PAGEANT FOR CITY IS PLANNED

Hopes that Portsmouth would again have a fall entertainment program that would bring many out-of-town persons here are to be realized in the presentation of a historical pageant that will be given early this fall probably in York park. This entertainment feature will take the place of the former Korn Karnival that was a big event in the fall life of Portsmouth for several years. The presentation of a program of entertainment is backed by the Chamber of Commerce and is one of the programs suggested by the business men in their plan to advertise Portsmouth to the thousands of persons who live in the Portsmouth territory. With such a program as planned Portsmouth should call within its gates many visitors who would become better acquainted with Peerless Portsmouth and its many opportunities and advantages.

That there is considerable interest in the historical pageant plan was shown last night when a meeting was held at the Elk's parlors for the purpose of discussing the pageant plans. Many members of the Chamber of Commerce along with representatives of the Ladies' Musical were in attendance.

All of the civic and service organizations of the city will be asked to get behind the movement which is primarily for the purpose of putting Portsmouth in the spotlight among cities of this section and also providing for the people of this community a real treat of a most unusual order. It is the purpose to erect a mammoth open air stage in York park, with a seating capacity of possibly 10,000.

An outline of Portsmouth's history from its inception to the present day is already being written for the occasion. This will be used to form a series of tableaux and episodes. These will all be elaborately costumed and set to special incidental music. It is estimated that almost a thousand will participate in the production.

From all indications the pageant will probably be held for several days while on the last day it is hoped that the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra can be engaged for the grand finale.

Mr. Carl C. Rutledge of New York who was called here to advise with the local committee stated that he was certain Portsmouth possessed advantages found in few other cities and was convinced a pageant of progress as had been outlined would present a most wonderful spectacle. He complimented the committee upon its efforts and also upon the lore of material which Portsmouth presented for such an event.

The next step the committee will make will be to elicit the aid and support of various other organizations in order that the affair may be strictly a community proposition. It is planned to hold the pageant about the first week in September.

Little Blind Girl Among Those Who Are Having Big Time At Girls' Camp

The Girl Scouts and Community Club Girls are having one grand time at camp, as the following letter from one of them shows.

Girl Scout Camp,
Wednesday A. M.

Dear Everybody:
I got your letter this morning. I shall come in as soon as I know when Jennie is coming home and I will stay all night and go back the next day. To come in between trains hurries me too much.

I am reading those Fairy Tales to the kids, and they are wild about them and are always after me to read them.

Edith is just getting along fine and Miss Griffin would like to have her all summer and she asked me to tell you, since it was your class that is keeping her. Mamma, she is the sweetest thing, so nice to have around. She can swim very well for a child of nine and astonishingly well for a blind child.

Please call Emma Hubert and tell her to send Edith her bathing suit and the things she needs and if that doesn't get her I shall send her a letter.

We have our dam fixed for good now and we did it all ourselves. Those block-head men don't know how to do anything. If it wasn't for the dam now we wouldn't have any swimming at all because the water is terribly low. Our well is almost dry, and we have to carry most of our water from Rice's.

We did have a little bird about three days old and we tried to feed it, but I guess we fed it too much or not enough, or maybe not the right food, for it died and we had to throw it in the creek.

There are 25 girls in camp now and something is going on all the time. It's just a fine bunch of kids and we get along wonderfully and everybody is having a good time including myself.

Write and tell me when Jennie is going and then I shall come in.

Love to everybody,
G.

Some camp; and the girls are certainly enjoying themselves out there. The blind girl she speaks of is Edith Sperry, the little girl who had trachoma and whose parents wouldn't allow her to be operated upon till her eyes became so infected, they had to be removed, and now she is blind for life. She is having a glorious time. The girls make a regular pet of her, play with her, read to her, take her with them in swimming, and she just loves them. She goes on their hikes with them, and takes part in the camp life as no one would suppose a blind child could. One evening they had a marshmallow roast. The girls pelted a stick for her, and she roasted the marshmallows herself. "And I can roast weiners, too," she said.

In the evening she gathers with them around the camp fire, sings all the camp songs, and is just one of them. Nature has given her a quick mind, which has been sharpened still more by her affliction. The mother of the writer of the letter has persuaded the Ladies' Class of Trinity church to keep her there as long as the camp stays open.

In fact, to stay at the camp as long as it remains open, is a resolution most of the girls have taken. Girls who came out for one or two weeks are now beseeching their parents with requests to be allowed to stay until the camp closes. The Community Girls come out for week-ends, and all are having a glorious time splashing in the big swimming pool, and playing games under the trees.

BOY SCOUTS' TENNIS TOURNAMENT

The Boy Scouts are to have a tennis tournament this summer. Many of the Boy Scouts play tennis and several took a high rank in the boys' tournament last summer.

The first Boy Scout tournament is in doubles and will start next Wednesday, July 26. Any registered Scout is eligible to take part. A pennant will be awarded the winning troop.

Following that will be a tournament in singles. This is also open to all registered Scouts. The awards for singles will be a gold medal for the winner, silver and bronze for second and third.

Irvin Bassler and John Smith of Troop 1 comprise the first team to enter the tournament.

NO PRAYER MEETING AT TRINITY

The Chautauqua program of this evening will commence at eight o'clock and the Trinity prayer meeting service will be cancelled because of the large interest of Trinity church people in the Chautauqua. This church reached its quota first, in the ticket sale, due to the untiring devotion of those who accepted the responsibility.

The fine program of the first day, particularly the great lecture by Dr. Bobb, last night, promises well for the whole series. The audience was a delight to see, being thoughtful, responsive people, who recognized the merits of all that was presented.

Woman Trips And Falls; Jaw And Two Ribs Broken

Mrs. John Brown, formerly of Rarden, is recovering at her home in Jamestown, Green county, from severe injuries which she sustained recently in an odd manner. While passing through an unlighted room of her home she tripped over a rocking chair and fell violently against a table and besides suffering a broken jaw sustained two fractured ribs.

Mrs. Brown is a daughter of J. N. Brown, prominent resident of Rarden, and she has many friends in the village, where she lived many years, who will regret to learn of her misfortune. Mrs. E. R. Candidate For State Treasurer In The City

Hon. Louis T. Nein, of Hamilton, who is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for state treasurer, spent Wednesday in Portsmouth, and was shown about the city by William West. Mr. Nein made a most favorable impression upon Democrats and received many assurances of support. He has the endorsement of Butler, his home county, of Cuyahoga county, Hamilton county and many other counties throughout the state and feels that his chances of landing the nomination are of the very best.

Mr. Nein is an attractive gentleman, forty years of age. He served six years as city auditor of Middletown and is now serving his second term as treasurer of Butler county. His public service record has been of the very highest order, and he has always been noted for standing out for the public, rather than for individual rights. A notable example of this occurred recently when he organized and led opposition to a million dollar bridge deal at Hamilton on the ground that it was a real estate rather than a public good proposition.

GIANTS LEADING LEAGUE BY HALF A GAME; OPEN FIVE DAY STAY IN REDLAND TODAY

Reds And Chicago Tie For Third Position; Indians Take Their Ninth Straight

NEW YORK, July 19.—Holding the lead in the National league by the scant margin of a half game, the Giants moved on to Cincinnati today, after a disastrous series in St. Louis, in which they dropped three out of four games to the fast-going Cardinals. Nick's men took the final game 4-5, a see-saw slugfests, in which the lead changed five times. Eddie Ainsmith cracked out his tenth homer of the season during the battle.

REDS WIN BY HARD HITTING

CINCINNATI, O., July 19.—The Reds made it three out of four from Boston by winning the final game of the series Tuesday 9-3. Oeschger pitched the full game for the Braves and was hit hard in the second and sixth innings, the locals hitting around in the latter round and scoring six runs on six hits and an error by Gibson. Boston's runs were scored on four batters. Except for these home runs, Rixey was in complete command. Following is the game by innings:

First Inning—Bohne threw out Powell. Rixey did as much for Nixon. Nicholson, who hits left-handers, put the ball into the bleachers. Beckel singled to Duncan. One run, one hit, no errors.

Second Inning—Bohne batted to Rixey. Rixey did as much for Nixon. Nicholson, who hits left-handers, put the ball into the bleachers. Beckel singled to Duncan. One run, one hit, no errors.

Third Inning—Oeschger batted to Rixey. Powell fanned. So did Nixon. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fourth Inning—Nicholson batted in a merry mood, smashed another home run, this time to center field, the ball going between Burns and Duncan. Beckel batted to Rixey. A great stop. Holke sailed to Burns. Ford threw three times. One run, one hit, no errors.

Fifth Inning—Kopf batted to Oeschger. Same for Gibson. Oeschger hit one to center, but being a pitcher, only got to second. Powell batted to Rixey. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Sixth Inning—Nicholson drove to Duncan. The crowd urged Nicholson to hit another home run, but Caveney checked him out. Beckel batted to Rixey. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Harper singled to right. A wild pitch took him to second. Bohne batted a hit off Oeschger's glove. Ford's throw of Hargrave's grounder beat Harper to the plate, but Gibson snuffed the ball. Pinelli singled to center, scoring Bohne. Caveney sacrificed, Beckel to Kopf. Rixey doubled to right amid frantic cheers, sending in Hargrave and Pinelli. Burns tripled to right, scoring Rixey. Daubert singled to right, scoring Burns. Duncan hit into a double play. Oeschger to Ford to Holke. Six runs, six hits, one error.

Seventh Inning—Holke rolled to Burns. Ford batted to Caveney. Kopf batted to Caveney. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Eighth Inning—Bohne fumbled Gibson's grounder. Oeschger out. Daubert to Bohne. Powell batted to Bohne. Nixon fouled to Hargrave. No runs, no hits, one error.

Ninth Inning—Nicholson grounded out. Beckel made a home run. Holke grounded out. Ford flied out. One run, one hit, no errors. The box score:

SOVIET MURDER

THE bolshavist tribunal sitting at Moscow has just condemned to death Mgr. Benjamin, the metropolitan of Petrograd; Bishop Benedict, Archbishop Sergius, the canons of the Kasan, the St. Isaacs and the Troitsky cathedrals, the three leading churches of Petrograd; Prof. Ognieff, Prof. Novitsky and three other dignitaries of the Orthodox church. The offense with which they were charged was resistance to the confiscation by the soviet of the treasures belonging to the churches under their charge. The trial of Mgr. Tikhon, patriarch of Moscow, on a similar charge will, it is announced, be transferred from Moscow to Petrograd, in order probably to assure his condemnation. The respect and affection felt for the venerable prelate in his own diocese would probably make even a soviet tribunal hesitate in imposing the death penalty.

Nothing has yet transpired as to the attitude taken toward this latest bolshavist outrage by the governments taking part in The Hague conference. It would, however, to the ordinary observer seem difficult for them to maintain even relations of pure form with a regime which thus prepares to defy the conscience of the world by judicial murder on such a scale. No act of the notorious tribunal of the committee of public safety of the French revolution went beyond the excesses committed by the bolshavist tribunal. St. Just and his accomplices at least put forward the pretext that the persons they accused were active plotters against the revolutionary government and were conspiring against the security of the state.

But in the case of the metropolitan Benjamin and his colleagues no such charge can be made. Their only offense was that they tried to prevent the churches under their charge being robbed and plundered of their sacred treasures. And while these priceless works of art, the accumulation of centuries, are being sent to the melting pot the band of criminals carrying out these outrages are negotiating at The Hague for a loan running into billions to bolster up their failing political power.

ABOUT GROWING OLD

THE psychologist who said the other day that old age and death is a mere matter of psychology, seems to be skipping about the edge of sophistry. To claim full credit for modern knowledge which has lengthened human life five years in two generations is one thing, but to reach from that for a logical conclusion that life may be prolonged indefinitely by mere psychological effort is something different. This would be comforting to those who desire to live to be 200 years old, but before men reach that age other knowledge than merely how to wish for prolonged existence will be necessary.

To fix an arithmetical program by which human life is to be lengthened according to the ratio of the first modern steps is to invite disappointment. Some time, possibly, men may live to be much older than in this generation, but when that time arrives human beings will be found living as well as thinking in a manner far from the habits of 1922. Physical death and old age is something more than a simple matter of psychology, at least in man's present state of knowledge.

WILL ECLIPSE CONFIRM?

DR. EINSTEIN'S theory of relativity will be halted by the eclipse of the sun in September or so supported that it may be considered "arrived." All the enlightened nations have sent expeditions to Australia, the most favorable point for observing the coming eclipse, which is expected to corroborate what the last solar eclipse in 1919 showed to back up the German scientist. If September's observations confirm the reports of the 1919 phenomenon, astronomers will consider the Einstein theory proved so far as available physical facts permit it to be tested.

If the changes in star positions noted in 1919 are confirmed by star changes in position in 1922 the phenomenon of 1919 will be considered corroboration of the theory, and the observations of 1922 accepted as confirming the corroboration. What may seem just a little singular is that Dr. Einstein, so far as known, is not included in any of the expeditions which have traveled or are traveling around the globe to Australia to watch with specially equipped instruments for the evidences that will speak for or against the theory that has caused more discussion than any since Newton's discovery which it affects.

Recent revolutions haven't overturned anything except a hat rack.

Judging from the divorcees, cupid would never win an archery match.

Europe has more ruins than ever, as appears from American tourists' pocketbooks.

One of Ohio's troubles is sorting out the voters from the candidates for governor.

The Anti-Saloon League seems to think that the nation isn't running true to reform.

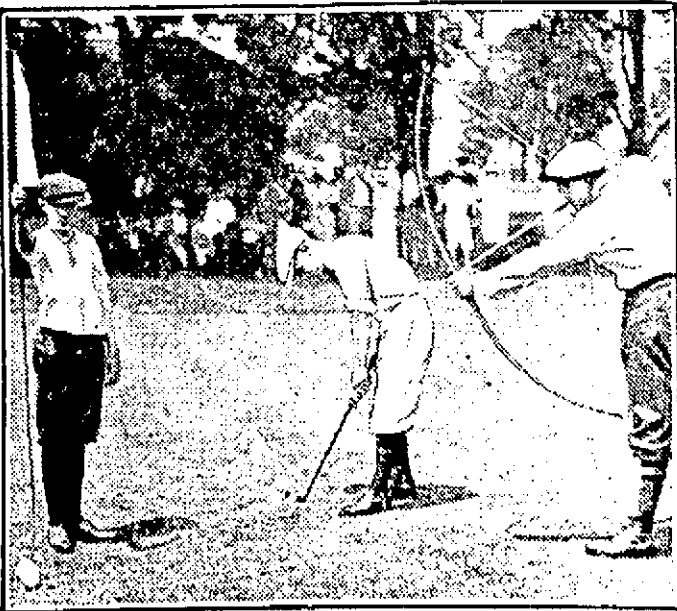

The picnic may be one of the oldest institutions, but it has lost none of its popularity.

Mr. Hooper of the rail labor board is making new plans to settle the strike. He needs them.

No diplomatic confidence is violated when it is mentioned that The Hague conference's necktie is up behind.

Some say The Hague conference is breaking up, others that it is breaking down. But there is no doubt about it breaking.

THE BIBLE IN PICTURES AND TEXT

By HELEN E. OHRENSCHALL

RUTH

THERE was famine in the land. A man of Israel named Elimelech, who lived in Bethlehem, took his wife Naomi and two sons to the land of Moab. Elimelech died, the sons married women of Moab. The sons died and Naomi was left alone with her daughters-in-law. When the famine was over Naomi arose to go back to Bethlehem and her daughters-in-law wept. Orpah bade Naomi farewell and went back to her own home. Ruth said to Naomi: "Whither thou goest I will go, where thou lodgest I will lodge; thy people shall be my people and thy God my God."

New York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCNAUGHT

NEW YORK, July 19—Fourteenth street is very much like a miniature street's fair these summer days. Residents do not have to go to Coney Island for their thrills. They are able to find them next door.

Every vacant lot has its makeshift pleasure park with penny carousel, knife-throwers and collapsible hot dog range. Fourteenth street has never been able to shake off the midway spirit.

In almost every block there is an arcade with old fashioned phonograph and clamp slot machine and the photograph shop which will take "as is." And the fountain in Union Square is the bathing beach for the youngsters.

The street may also boast of more Japanese rolling ball games than any pleasure resort around New York, save Coney Island. But the street hawkers and their "cappers" offer the best amusement to be found there.

They hawk everything—from needle threader to wash-bowls—and they do it with a pleasurable thrill for spectators. Any moment they may be clapped in a patrol wagon by roving plain clothes men.

The hawkers know this and they invite the confidence of the crowds. They make the plea of capitalistic pressure. "We are underselling the big department stores and they are out to imprison us," they shout. "We sell to you direct because we are of the common people and want to help you. Now I have here, etc., etc."

The street hawkers have their supply of jokes and magic. And the way they disappear when the "capper" gives the signal that a bluecoat is approaching, is nothing short of miraculous. Heruan the Great has never produced a better vanishing act.

American managers are still scrambling to bring Duse to America. Seven have gone for personal interviews to try to persuade her. She wants to come, but there are many reasons why she may not. To begin with, Duse is now a woman of 61—time-worn, tragic, white-haired. She clings to her determination not to wear make-up on the stage. She also chills the American manager by her avowal not to play more than three nights a week.

The Long Island house party season has opened and the veranda hounds are having their day. The guest who drops in for a cocktail and remains a week is in evidence. Social grubbers find an easy way indolently to loiter through the summer by "dropping in" at various homes.

A Grave in France
A grave in France, upon a windswept hill. Once rent by shrapnel! Now the grace Of all-restoring nature clothes the place. With living green, luxuriant o'er the chill. Spent ashes of the dead. Joyously shrill. The hawk, a soaring song, floats in the space. Of sunlit heaven, and there is scarce a trace. Of war's wild tumult in a scene so still. The grave in hearts that gave, and giving. A grave in France! but darker, sadder far, broke In silence, sorrowing with out surcease. And yet they know, grief-stricken as they are. That what was sown with tears 'mid battle smoke, Should spring in flowers of freedom and of peace.

Wife—Dear, promise me that if I die you will marry Jane Jones. Hubby—Jane Jones? Why, I thought you hated her. Wife—I do.

The Musical Note
The wealthy uncle was talking over the prospects of his nephew with the boy's mother. "How is he doing with his studies?" "Oh, very well. He's very intelligent; he shows a great talent for music, and his manner is very likable. His teacher thinks he will become a conductor!" "Ah! Indeed!" responded his uncle; "bus or trolley car?" —Music Record.

In the Same Boat
"Aren't you lonesome, my poor man?" "Not so lonesome as I was." "How is that?" "I feel that I have company. You see, me and Germany can't pay our debts." —Houston Post.

Figured It Out

"What on earth are you doing with all those shoes, Tommy?" "Playing at trains, mother. Your boots represent the engine and father's represents the coal trucks." —Edinburg Scotsman.

Charlie Crow—Those human politicians think a great deal of each other. Jimmie Crow—Why do you say that? Charlie Crow—I heard one call another "a big piece of cheese."

Ouch!

"I think it is awful the way girls go round with these rings in their ears," declared the Uplifter. "It's not half as awful as the way some of you married men are led around with a ring in your nose," retorted the testy old bachelor.

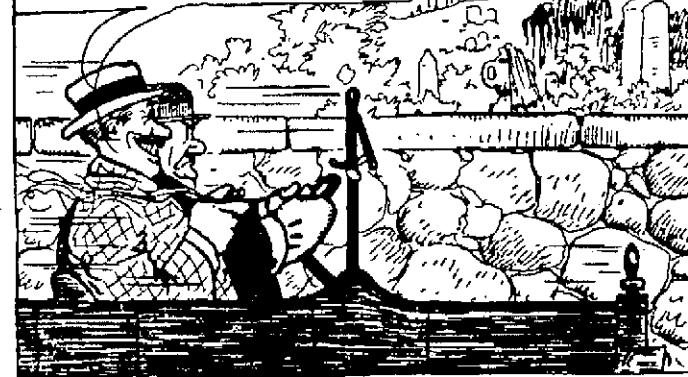

Stewed

My skin is all bloated; it wrinkles—it sags. I'm stewed to the limit. The last of my jugs. My heart is as sour As a sauerkraut in June. I feel no remorse. For I'm only a prune. —Exchange.

IF YOU ARE WELL-BRED

You will not decorate your visiting cards with gilded edges, crests or decorations. Your name and the address, if you desire, are sufficient. A woman is not privileged to share her husband's titles on her card. "Mrs." or "Miss" are the only titles an American woman may use socially.

Ebe Martin

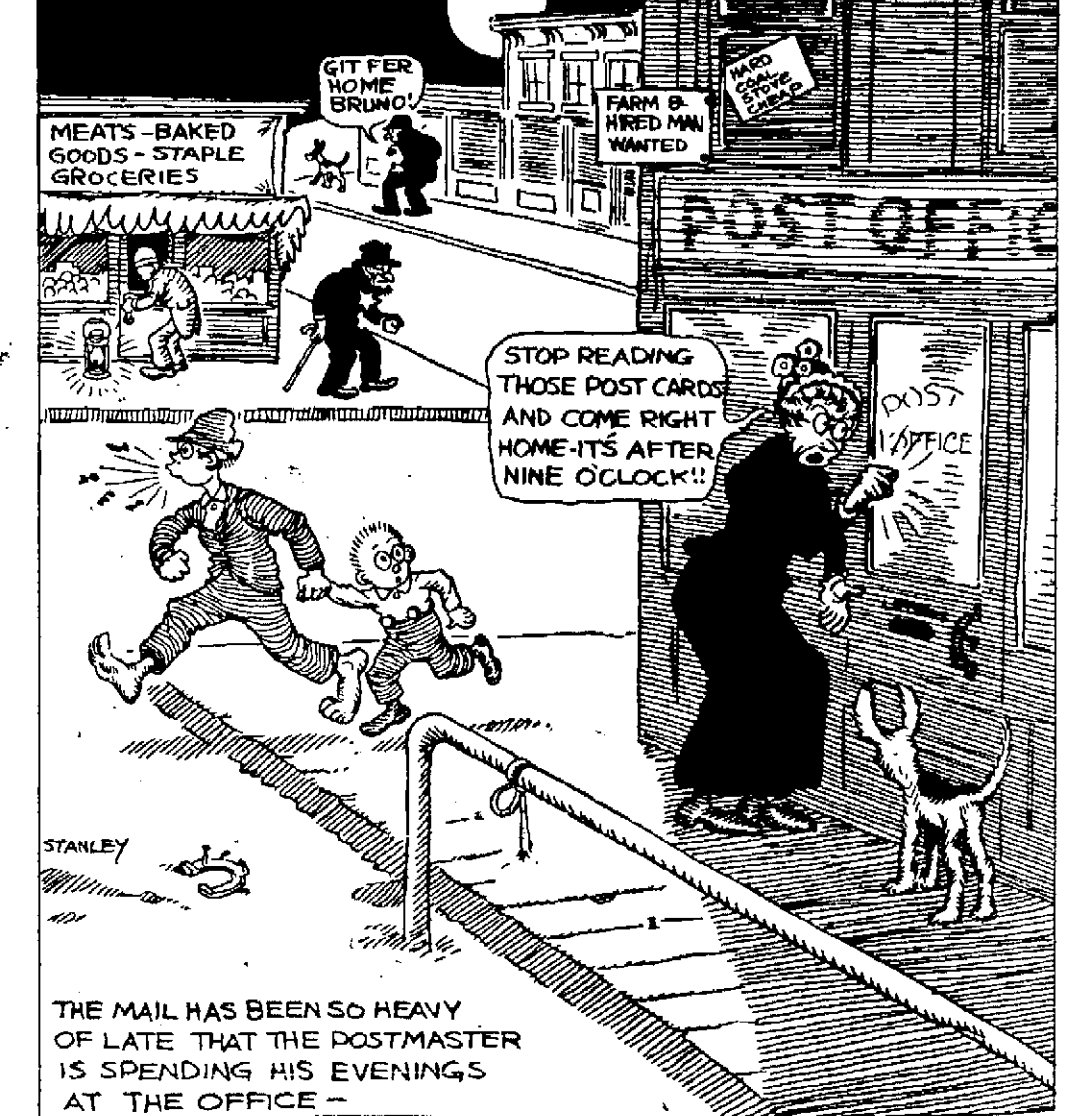

So many ingenious schemes I get business are being tried that the idea of allowing us to trade in a last year's straw hat on a new one is at least entitled to consideration. Yesterday Moots pitched a no-bit game yesterday, and he hasn't been in college quite a year.
